There were some typographical errors in the version of this Article originally published; all the following have now been corrected. In the final sentence of the section ‘Intermediate displacement field as seen from InSAR’, “pleading for local transpression” should be “leading to local transpression”. In the first sentence of Fig. 3 caption, “plotted along the strike by latitude” should be “plotted along strike by latitude”, and in the second sentence, “swatch” should be “swath”. In the final sentence of the section ‘Rupture characteristics and evidence for supershear’, “shear horizontal waves” should be “horizontal shear waves”. In the first paragraph of ‘Slip distribution’, “normal slips” should be “normal slip”. In the second sentence of the section ‘Seismic cycle balance’, “corresponds to a moment deficit” should be “which corresponds to a moment deficit”; and in the penultimate sentence “two years later a Mw 6.6 earthquake on the Palu fault¹⁰” should be “a Mw 6.6 earthquake on the Palu fault two years later¹⁰”. Finally, in the third sentence of the ‘Conclusions’ section, “time function” should be “source time function”.
